Preparing for the Anniversary of Litchfield in 2019

1. Community Conversations: "Growing up in Litchfield"
Thursday, May 11 at 6:30 p.m. at the Litchfield History Museum
Facilitator: Historian Rachel Carley
Residents are invited to participate in a larger discussion about what it was like growing up in Litchfield and explore how the town has changed over the years. Question prompts will help lead the discussion. Open to the public. Free.
Kindly R.S.V.P. by Tuesday, May 9. Email registration@litchfieldhistoricalsociety.org or call (860) 567-4501

2. Town-wide Digitization Day
Sunday, June 4 from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Litchfield History Museum
Staff from The Connecticut State Library will help community members digitize their photos, documents, textiles, and other Litchfield-related artifacts to further our research and understanding of the town's history for the 300th anniversary. Litchfield encompasses the center village, Bantam, Northfield, Milton, East Litchfield, and Morris/South Farms (pre-1856) and the Historical Society seeks to document all areas of town. The Society will retain a copy of the digital file for use in research, publicity, exhibits, and programming and inclusion in the Connecticut Digital Archive. Most items will be returned to everyone in the same day and participants will also receive a copy of the digital file. Audio files for digitization will take several days before being returned by a mutually agreed upon date to owner. Open to the public. Free.

Have questions about the events or unable to attend? Want to check if your item(s) can be digitized?
Call the Historical Society at (860) 567-4501 or email registration@litchfieldhistoricalsociety.org.
